Dear Doctor Sanchez:

Thank you for your letter regarding our workshop program. Actually, we have planned the program so that you will speak twice, once to a group of primary teachers (grades 1 - 3), and again to a group of inter-mediate (4 - 8). Each of these periods is to run one hour, the idea being that you would use forty minutes or so in lecture and the balance of the time as a question - answer. In addition we had scheduled an extra hour at the end of the workshop for consultation, should any of the teachers have an individual problem that ~~she~~ would like to discuss with you. The workshop itself will be over at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, so that even with this additional consultation hour the day is not too long. Unfortunately we may have to divide the primary group again and have all the first grade teachers in one group and the second and third in another group. The reason for this is that we are endeavoring to keep the groups small, in order to encourage discussion from all the participants. However, this further division of the primary groups means that you would speak three times and this I am trying hard to avoid. If it is at all possible we will confine your talks to two sessions.

I finally ended up using the very title that you mentioned in your letter, namely, "The Problems Of The Bilingual Child In Our Schools." From the content of your letter I realize that you prefer the other two topics mentioned. However, since we have only a weekly paper and I had to give the program to the paper yesterday, I think it would be better to retain the same topic used in the paper. It is general enough perhaps to enable you to incorporate any ideas or message under it. Please do not feel restricted to the topic.

I should like to mention that this is the first time we have ever had a county-wide meeting of our teachers before the start of school. There is no compulsion on their part to attend. This meeting is experimental. We may not have full attendance, but even so, I feel that you will find those who do attend to be highly interested in their work.

I shall be looking forward to seeing you on September second.

Sincerely yours,
